Billing and Scholarship (Financial Assistance) Policies – Summer 2024

Full tuition for Adventure Camp (Rock Point) and BTV Summer Camp is due May 1st. Payment plans may be available upon request. Tuition for each week of Camp Koda is due 10 days before that week.

A registration fee of $30.00 and deposits of $25.00 per week are required at time of registration. Registration fees and deposits are non-refundable, regardless of financial assistance. If your student receives subsidy assistance, registration fee and deposits will not be charged. The Y must have received a subsidy certificate by June 1st to waive these fees; they remain due if there is no certificate on file by that date.

Cancellations and schedule changes must be made two weeks in advance of the camp's start date. Please notify Kelsey Coyle (kcoyle@gbymca.org) for Adventure Camp and Camp Koda, or Mackenzie Cochran (mcochrane@gbymca.org) for BTV Summer Camp.

If you wish to change your billing method at any point, please contact boffice@gbymca.org or call 802-652-8190.

Scholarship applications must be submitted by April 15th. Discounts are based on a pool of scholarship funding which will be distributed based on relative financial need. Qualified families will receive a reduced price by April 26th for Adventure Camp and BTV Summer Camp so that they can choose if they still wish to attend at the new rate. Camp Koda families receiving a reduced rate will be notified by May 15th to accommodate subsidy dates.

Camp Koda ONLY: Families must apply for Vermont state subsidy in order to receive Y scholarships. We encourage families that hold a certificate and those planning to apply for summer certificates to do so after April 1st due to expanded eligibility. The state can offer greater discounts than the Y- up to 100% coverage. However, if the subsidy certificate is not adequate assistance, Y scholarships may still be available.

The scholarship application form can be found on the Y's website via the link below. Please note that documentation is required to verify financial information. Options for this are listed on the application and should be sent to boffice@gbymca.org.

In the event of unforeseen cancellations for staffing or weather reasons, refunds will not be available unless a full week's registration must be cancelled due to extreme circumstances. A credit will then be applied to the following registered week if possible, or the amount paid will be returned to the original payment method.
